Re: Notice of EX PARTE Presentation
CG Docket No. 04-208; CC Docket No. 98-170

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On December 13, Beth Swett-Executive Director External Affairs; Michael W. Bennett-Executive Director External Affairs; and Ben Almond-Vice President Federal Regulatory Affairs, all of Cingular Wireless, met with Jay Keithley-Deputy Chief, Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau (CGB); Leon Jackler-Legal Advisor to the Bureau Chief-CGB and Richard Smith, Attorney Policy Division-CGB, in order to discuss issues related to the referenced docket proceedings.

Attachment 1 contains the presentation document used for discussion purposes. The discussion centered on the need of the FCC to establish a national regulatory framework on CMRS billing in light of the increasing patchwork of state regulations. The representatives discussed how wireless industry competition and market forces are working to proactively address customers' expectations related to billing and service issues. In particular, Cingular's sustained efforts on customer services and network quality are producing positive trends on reduced customer churn and complaints. Attachments 2-5 are documents discussed during the meeting associated with states' regulations on CMRS billing.

The representatives of Cingular mentioned recent changes in terms of addressing specific disclosure documents with customers at point of sale, in addition to enhancements of Cingular's interactive coverage mapping application.

Please associate the accompanying documents with the referenced docket proceeding.

If there are any questions concerning this matter, please contact the undersigned.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Ben G. Almond". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Ben" being more prominent.

Truth In Billing Ex Parte
CC Docket No. 98-170 and CG Docket No. 04-208
December 13, 2005

Federal national framework and market forces are working; additional regulation is not necessary.

- Complaints are decreasing.
 - Cingular FCC complaint rate per million has significantly decreased in October and November as compared to 2nd quarter 2005.
- Churn is decreasing.
- Consumer calls to call center are decreasing.
- Individual complaints regarding billing format or line items for recovery of costs for government programs are minimal.

FCC should preempt state regulation of CMRS billing.

- National Regulatory framework is necessary.
- National framework and competition adequately protect consumers.
- Patchwork of state regulations would frustrate federal goals.
- States may not enforce federal billing regulations.

States are continuing to propose or implement rules affecting billing.

California

- Consumer Protection Rules were enacted December 2004.
- Commission subsequently stayed Rules in January 2005.
- Proceedings are ongoing and Commission changes are occurring.
- Requirements for billing of non-communications charges were enacted 2001.
 - Prescriptive rules for authorization, revocation of opt-in and complaint procedures
 - Requires use of PIN or other “equally reliable security procedures” for authorization, revocation of opt-in and complaint procedures
 - Requires separate section of bill

New Mexico Consumer Protection rules¹

- On November 22, 2005, New Mexico Public Regulation Commission adopted Consumer Protection Rules to be effective February 1, 2006.
- Prescribed manner for disclosing rate or fee increases or decreases
- Detailed requirements for billing, including PRC’s phone number
- Prescribed manner regarding billing disputes
- Detailed deposit requirements

Minnesota HF 2151² (enclosed)

- 8th Circuit Court of Appeals recent Decision is enclosed. (Attachment 4)
- Law requires 60 days prior notice of “substantive change” in contract that could result in increase
- Under the requirements, an increase to USF percentage increase or imposition of Gross Receipts Tax would be a substantive change.
- Customer must affirmatively “opt-in” to the change; if customer does not “opt”, the original contract terms apply.

Kentucky³

- On November 18, 2005, Cingular, Verizon Wireless, Sprint and T-Mobile filed action (Complaint enclosed) to enjoin enforcement of recently enacted House Bill 272 (HB 272)
- The law imposes a new gross receipts tax to be effective January 1, 2006 and prohibits carriers from passing on the cost of new tax in form of a line item.

If additional regulation is necessary, FCC should adopt rules consistent with the AVC.

- Disclosure requirements
 - Carriers should provide notice that government taxes apply and provide estimate or range of discretionary charges.
 - Commission should not mandate specific documents at point of sale
 - Customers have 30 days to terminate
 - Mandated and discretionary charges vary by locale and state and some customers are multi-state customers.
 - Complexity is increased through Website and telephone sales.
 - Commission should adopt definition of mandated charges and separation of mandated charges consistent with AVC
 - Commission should not adopt categories other than mandated charges.

Other Issues

- Line items identified as regulatory cost recovery charges are not misleading.
Cingular:
 - Identifies that the charge is not a tax or mandated
 - Segregates from mandated taxes and mandated charges
 - Discloses in all summaries, advertising, plans
 - Commission should review individual carrier disclosures rather than make broad conclusion.

² M.S.A. § 325F.695; MN ST 325F.695. (enclosed – Attachment 3)

³ Cingular Wireless et al v. Rudolph et al, U.S.D.C., E.D.K., Civil Action No. 3:05—81 KKC (Nov. 18, 2005). (enclosed – Attachment 5)

- Carriers should have ability to recover multiple regulatory programs in single line item.
 - Combined items are simpler than multiple items.
 - Cingular adequately discloses purpose, segregates in billing and identifies not a tax.
 - Carrier has obligation to substantiate costs.
- FCC should clarify that CMRS providers may use line item to recover cost of Telephone Relay Service.
- Prior FCC statements were based on separation rules applicable to landline carriers.
- FCC should find that wireless carriers are still permitted to recover costs in general regulatory charge.

Cingular is continuing to respond to customer and FCC concerns by improving and simplifying customer information.

 - (ii) the LEC receives a financial certification, valid for ninety (90) days, on the form prescribed by the commission in 17.11.16.34 NMAC or a substantially similar form, from the customer stating that the customer does not have the financial resources to pay the charges for telecommunications services; and
 - (iii) the residential customer enters into a payment plan with the LEC;
- (b) if service has been discontinued, the LEC shall reestablish service within twelve (12) hours after the residential customer has satisfied the requirements of subparagraphs (a)(i) through (a)(iii) of paragraph (6) of this subsection;
- (c) the residential customer will not be relieved of the obligation to pay for services rendered if service is continued or reestablished under the provisions of this paragraph; and
- (d) timely delivery by a residential customer to the LEC of duly executed medical certification and financial certification forms shall be adequate to delay discontinuance of service for at least thirty (30) days and that the LEC may, in its discretion, delay the discontinuance for a longer period;

(8) for residential customers, blank copies of the medical certification form prescribed by the commission in 17.11.16.33 NMAC and the financial certification form prescribed by the commission in 17.11.16.34 NMAC, or substantially similar forms; these forms include an agreement to enter into a payment plan with the LEC;

(9) for residential customers, the following statement in capital letters, "If you have difficulty paying this bill, and feel you may qualify for assistance from the low income telephone assistance program (LITAP), contact a customer service representative at [insert toll-free telephone number of the carrier's customer service department]. You may obtain an application for the low income telephone assistance program at our billing offices or we can mail an application to you. You should return the completed application and proof that you meet the eligibility requirements for one or more need-based assistance programs administered by the human services department to us at [insert name and mailing address of carrier's office]. If you do not have such proof, you should contact your local human services department income support division office or call the HSD customer help desk at its toll free telephone number for information on how to obtain proof of eligibility."

B. Two-day notice. Each LEC shall take reasonable steps to communicate with a customer by telephone or personal contact at least two (2) days prior to the actual date of discontinuance of service to remind the customer of the pending date of discontinuance of service, advise the customer again of the availability of financial assistance for telecommunications services payments, and obtain payment of delinquent accounts. The LEC employee who personally contacts a residential customer shall note any information made known to the employee by the residential customer regarding any resident's serious illness or life endangering health condition, such as whether a resident is physically disabled, frail, or elderly. Such information shall immediately be reported in writing to a LEC employee authorized to prevent discontinuance. That employee shall either delay the discontinuance if it is apparent that the forms required by Subparagraphs (a)(i) and (a)(ii) of Paragraph (7) of subsection A of this section will be received or state in writing why discontinuance of service will not be delayed. The LEC and LEC employee shall be held harmless for errors made in good faith in noting, acting upon, or failing to act upon the information made known by the residential customer.

C. Third-party notification. Each LEC shall offer its residential customers a third party notification program and shall notify residential customers that such program is available. The LEC shall extend the third party notification program to those residential customers who notify the LEC in writing of their desire to participate in the program and designate a specific person, organization, or governmental agency that is ready, willing, and able to assist the residential customer with the payment of LEC bills. Upon receipt of such notice and designation from a residential customer, a LEC shall not discontinue service to a participating customer for nonpayment of past due charges without providing the fifteen (15) day notice and the two (2) day notice required by this section.

D. Hours when service may be discontinued. A LEC may discontinue service to a residential customer Monday through Thursday during the hours from 8:00 a.m. to two (2) hours before the LEC's business office regularly closes. A LEC may not discontinue service less than twenty-four (24) hours prior to a holiday or weekend unless the LEC's business office is open for receipt of payment of past due charges and LEC personnel are available to restore service during the holiday or weekend once payment is received.

17.11.16.20 PAYMENT PLANS:

A. A LEC shall attempt to arrange a plan for the payment of past due LEC charges when a residential customer who has not been chronically delinquent indicates an inability to pay the charges. The LEC shall not discontinue service to the residential customer while a payment plan is being negotiated.

B. The LEC shall also inform the customer that a low income telephone assistance program (LITAP) is available to qualifying residential customers and shall ask if the customer would like to receive further information about the program. If the customer answers affirmatively, the LEC shall inform the customer:

(1) that applications are available at its billing offices or that the LEC will mail an application to the customer;

(2) that the customer must submit to the LEC a completed application and proof that the customer meets the eligibility requirements for one or more need-based assistance programs administered by the human services department;

(3) that, if the customer does not have such proof, the LEC shall advise the customer to contact his or her local human services department income support division office or call the HSD customer help desk at its toll free telephone number for information on how to obtain proof of eligibility;

(4) of other community assistance programs that may be available; and

(5) that the customer may obtain additional assistance from the commission's consumer relations division and the LEC shall provide the toll-free telephone number of the commission's consumer relations division.

C. Each LEC shall provide a procedure for reviewing residential customer allegations that a proposed payment plan is unreasonable, that a LEC charge is not due and owing, or that the customer has not violated an existing payment plan. The procedure shall grant the reviewing employee authority to order appropriate corrective action. A LEC shall not discontinue service until the review is completed. If a residential customer fails to comply with a payment plan and the LEC decides to discontinue service due to such failure, the LEC shall notify the customer as prescribed in Subsection B of 17.11.16.19 NMAC. The LEC shall submit the procedure to staff for approval thirty (30) days prior to implementing the procedure. If staff and the LEC cannot resolve any differences regarding the procedure, staff will present the issues to the commission for determination.

17.11.16.21 RESTORATION OF SERVICE:

A. Upon request of a customer, a LEC shall promptly restore service that has been temporarily discontinued by the LEC when the cause for discontinuance of service has been eliminated, applicable restoration or reconnection charges have been paid, and, if required, satisfactory credit arrangements have been made. At all times, the LEC shall make a reasonable effort to restore service on the day restoration is requested, and shall restore service no later than the next business day following the day on which the cause for discontinuance of service has been eliminated.

B. A LEC shall restore service to a residential customer within twelve (12) hours of receipt of the medical certification form prescribed by the commission in 17.11.16.33 NMAC and the financial certification form prescribed by the commission in 17.11.16.34 NMAC, or substantially similar forms which include an agreement to enter into a payment plan with the LEC.

17.11.16.22 COMPLAINTS AND APPEALS:

A. A carrier shall fully and promptly investigate and respond to all complaints made directly to the carrier by customers. The carrier shall make a good faith attempt to resolve the complaint and shall notify the customer promptly of its proposed disposition of the complaint. Upon request, the carrier shall send written confirmation of its proposed disposition of the complaint to the customer.

B. If a carrier's customer representatives cannot resolve a complaint to a customer's satisfaction, the carrier shall provide the complainant with the name, address and current local or toll-free telephone number of the consumer relations division of the commission.

C. Upon receipt of a complaint forwarded by the commission on behalf of a customer, a carrier shall make a suitable investigation. A carrier shall provide an initial response to the commission within ten (10) business days after the carrier receives the complaint. When the carrier has concluded its investigation of a complaint, the carrier shall provide a written response to the commission detailing the results of the carrier's investigation and its proposed resolution. A complaint forwarded by the commission on behalf of a customer shall not be considered resolved until the Consumer Relations Division closes the complaint.

17.11.16.23 CUSTOMER DEPOSIT POLICY: 17.11.16.23 NMAC through 17.11.16.28 NMAC apply only to wireline carriers that require deposits of residential and small business customers for services regulated by the commission and to wireless carriers that require deposits of their customers.

A. A carrier that requires deposits shall develop a written deposit policy that allows applicants for service to establish credit, and existing customers to reestablish credit, and shall make a copy of its policy available to any customer who inquires about the criteria for deposits.

B. A carrier shall determine credit worthiness in an equitable and nondiscriminatory manner. The decision to require a deposit shall be based solely on the customer's credit history and shall not be based upon location, income level, source of income, occupation, race, creed, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, marital status, or number of dependents.

C. A carrier may, in accordance with 17.11.16.24 NMAC, at any time require from a customer a deposit intended to guarantee payment for services provided by the carrier.

D. The carrier shall establish a mechanism for internal review of a deposit requirement in the event a customer challenges the initial determination of the terms of such deposit. Should a customer continue to challenge the proposed terms of the deposit after such review is completed, the carrier shall provide the customer with the name, address and current local or toll-free telephone number of the consumer relations division of the commission for further review.

E. The carrier shall provide:

(1) a copy of its written deposit policy and associated procedures to each of its employees who process applications for service; and

(2) either a copy of its written deposit policy and associated procedures or a specific tariff cite, if such policy and procedures are included in tariffs filed with the commission, to the director of the consumer relations division of the commission.

17.11.16.24 CRITERIA FOR ESTABLISHING THE NEED FOR AND AMOUNT OF A DEPOSIT:

A. A LEC shall use the criteria in this subsection to determine whether to require a deposit or other guarantee of payment as a condition of new or continued service.

(1) A LEC may require an existing customer to make a deposit if the customer's payment record shows substantial nonpayment for intrastate services provided by the LEC in any two (2) of the last six (6) months, or any three (3) of the last twelve (12) months. A LEC may require a deposit even if such customer has paid part of the amount owed before the date service is to be discontinued for nonpayment.

(2) A LEC may, without notice, require an existing customer to pay a deposit in full before service is restored whenever service has been disconnected for non-payment of outstanding charges.

(3) A LEC shall not require a deposit if the customer furnishes, to the LEC's satisfaction, a written guarantee from a third party to secure payment of the customer's bills for intrastate services provided by the LEC. A LEC shall not require the guarantee amount to exceed the maximum amount of the deposit that would otherwise have been required. The guarantee shall remain in effect until terminated in writing by the guarantor, or until the customer has achieved a satisfactory payment record for services for twelve (12) consecutive months. A LEC shall terminate the guarantee five (5) business days after receiving written notice from the guarantor or five (5) business days after a twelve (12) month period of satisfactory payment.

(4) A LEC shall not require a deposit if the customer has been a customer of the LEC for a similar type of service within a preceding twelve (12) consecutive month period, and the customer's credit was satisfactory and is not otherwise impaired.

B. The commission may authorize a LEC to waive deposit requirements for low-income customers eligible for tariffed discount programs.

C. A carrier shall not require a deposit of a customer that exceeds three (3) times the average monthly bill for telecommunications services provided by that carrier for the same class of customers; wireless carriers may instead use three (3) times the monthly plan fee for wireless services for that customer. An estimate of monthly billing may be used for the purpose of determining a deposit if the carrier can reasonably demonstrate that the customer's usage may be substantially different than the average usage for the same class of service or the monthly plan fee.

D. A carrier may adjust the amount of deposit at the request of the customer or at the carrier's initiative at any time the character, purpose, or degree of the customer's use of the service has materially changed, or there are indications it will change.

E. A LEC may require a deposit in addition to any advance, contribution, or guarantee it may require in connection with the construction of lines or facilities, as provided in the line extension policy of the LEC's tariffs on file with the commission.

F. If a customer files a complaint regarding a proposed discontinuance of service, the commission may, upon motion by the carrier, require the customer to deposit cash or post bond with the carrier, in an amount deemed reasonable by the commission, pending resolution of the disputed proposed discontinuance.

17.11.16.25 LIMITATIONS ON THE USE OF DEPOSITS:

A. The making of a deposit shall not relieve any customer of the obligation to pay current bills when due. A carrier may require a deposit for services provided by another carrier only if the carrier is the billing agent for that carrier. The carrier shall not apply deposits for services provided by the carrier to an account for services provided by another carrier, even if the carrier is the billing agent for the other carrier. A LEC shall not require a deposit for, or refuse to connect, basic local exchange service because of a customer's indebtedness for toll or discretionary services.

B. A carrier shall not require any security for payment of intrastate or wireless services other than a cash deposit or a third-party guarantee. In no event shall any indebtedness related to the furnishing of intrastate or wireless services or the extension of facilities result in a lien, mortgage or other security interest in any real or personal property of the customer, unless the indebtedness has been reduced to a judgment by a court of law.

C. If requested by the customer that has made the deposit, a carrier may, in its discretion, transfer a deposit to another customer.

[17.11.16.25 NMAC - Rp, 17.11.16.24 NMAC, 2-1-06]

17.11.16.26 INTEREST ON DEPOSITS: A carrier shall accrue simple interest on deposits at the interest rate the carrier charges for late payment of bills or the rate specified in NMSA 1978 Section 62-13-13, whichever is greater. A carrier shall accrue interest on a deposit for the time it holds the deposit, calculated from the date the carrier receives the deposit to the date the carrier refunds the deposit or credits the amount of the deposit to the customer's account. The carrier may, at its option, pay interest directly to the customer or credit the interest to the customer's account.

[17.11.16.26 NMAC - Rp, 17.11.16.25 NMAC, 2-1-06]

17.11.16.27 DEPOSIT RECORDS:

A. A carrier shall maintain a record of each deposit until one (1) year after the deposit is returned. The record shall contain:

- (1) the name of each customer making a deposit;
- (2) the premises occupied by the customer when making the deposit and each successive premise occupied while the deposit is retained by the carrier; and
- (3) the amount of the deposit and the date it was received by the carrier.

B. Upon receipt of a deposit, a carrier shall provide to the customer a receipt showing the deposit date, the name and billing address of the customer, and the amount of the deposit.

[17.11.16.27 NMAC - Rp, 17.11.16.26 NMAC, 2-1-06]

17.11.16.28 REFUND OF DEPOSITS:

A. Upon discontinuance of service, or when a customer establishes credit by other means, a carrier shall promptly refund any deposit, plus accrued interest, or the balance of a deposit, if any, in excess of the unpaid bills for intrastate or wireless services furnished by the carrier. A transfer of service from one location to another within the area served by a carrier shall not be deemed a discontinuance of service if the character of the service remains unchanged.

B. When a deposit, plus accrued interest, is applied to the liquidation of unpaid bills, a carrier shall mail, or otherwise deliver to the customer, a statement showing the amount of the original deposit, plus any accrued interest, the amount of unpaid bills, plus any interest, liquidated by the deposit, and the balance remaining due either to the customer or the carrier.

C. A carrier shall annually review accounts of customers with deposits and, unless the carrier has obtained sufficient factual information to determine that a customer is an unsatisfactory credit risk based upon the criteria prescribed in 17.11.16.24 NMAC, the carrier shall promptly refund a customer's deposit, plus accrued interest, upon satisfactory payment of all proper charges for twelve (12) consecutive months. A carrier may, at its option, refund a deposit plus accrued interest in whole or in part at an earlier time.

D. A carrier shall pay any balance due a customer within thirty (30) calendar days after service is discontinued and the carrier has rendered a final bill, without demand or notice from the customer.

E. When a carrier is unable to refund a deposit on the first attempt, the carrier shall continue its efforts to refund the deposit.

F. When a carrier refunds a deposit, it shall, upon customer request, render to the depositor a statement showing the amount of the deposit, the period the deposit was held, and the amount of interest accrued.

- (4) state how the exemption or variance will achieve the purposes of this rule and the New Mexico Telecommunications Act;
- (5) state why the proposed alternative is in the public interest and is better than the requirement in the rule; and
- (6) state why the exemption or variance would have no anticompetitive effect.

B. Such petition may include a motion that the commission stay the affected portion of this rule for the transaction specified in the motion.

C. Petitions for an exemption or a variance and motions for a stay must be supported by an affidavit signed by an officer of the carrier or other person with authority to bind the carrier.

WIRELESS CONSUMER PROTECTION

- 7.5 Section 1. [325F.695] [CONSUMER PROTECTIONS FOR WIRELESS
7.6 CUSTOMERS.]
- 7.7 Subdivision 1. [DEFINITIONS.] The definitions in this 7.8 subdivision apply to this section.
- 7.9 (a) "Contract" means an oral or written agreement of 7.10 definite duration between a provider and a customer, detailing
7.11 the wireless telecommunications services to be provided to the 7.12 customer and the terms and conditions for provision of those 7.13 services.
- 7.14 (b) "Wireless telecommunications services" means commercial
7.15 mobile radio services as defined in Code of Federal Regulations,
7.16 title 47, part 20.
- 7.17 (c) "Provider" means a provider of wireless
7.18 telecommunications services.
- 7.19 (d) "Substantive change" means a modification to, or 7.20 addition or deletion of, a term or condition in a contract that 7.21 could result in an increase in the charge to the customer under 7.22 that contract or that could result in an extension of the term
7.23 of that contract. "Substantive change" includes a modification
7.24 in the provider's administration of an existing contract term or
- 7.25 condition. A price increase that includes only the actual 7.26 amount of any increase in taxes or fees, which the government
7.27 requires the provider to impose upon the customer, is not a 7.28 substantive change for purposes of this section.
- 7.29 Subd. 2. [COPY OF CONTRACT.] A provider must provide each
7.30 customer with a written copy of the customer's contract between 7.31 the provider and the customer within 15 days of the date the 7.32 contract is entered into. The provider may meet the requirement
- 7.33 to provide a written copy of the contract by providing an 7.34 electronic copy of the contract at the customer's request. A
7.35 provider must maintain verification that the customer accepted
7.36 the terms of the contract for the duration of the contract
8.1 period.
- 8.2 Subd. 3. [PROVIDER-INITIATED SUBSTANTIVE CHANGE.] A
8.3 provider must notify the customer in writing of any proposed 8.4 substantive change in the contract between the provider and the 8.5 customer 60 days before the change is proposed to take effect.
8.6 The change only becomes effective if the customer opts in to the
- 8.7 change by affirmatively accepting the change prior to the 8.8 proposed effective date in writing or by oral authorization
8.9 which is recorded by the provider and maintained for the 8.10 duration of the contract period. If the customer does not
8.11 affirmatively opt in to accept the proposed substantive change,
8.12 then the original contract terms shall apply.
- 8.13 Subd. 4. [CUSTOMER-INITIATED CHANGE.] If the customer
8.14 proposes to the provider any change in the terms of an existing 8.15 contract, the provider must clearly disclose to the customer
8.16 orally or electronically any substantive change to the existing 8.17 contract terms that would result from the customer's proposed 8.18 change. The customer's proposed change is only effective if the
- 8.19 provider agrees to the proposed change and the customer agrees

8.20 to any resulting changes in the contract. The provider must 8.21 maintain recorded or electronic verification of the disclosure
8.22 for the duration of the contract period.
8.23 Subd. 5. [EXPIRATION.] This section expires August 1, 2007.
8.24 Sec. 2. [EFFECTIVE DATE.]
8.25 Section 1 is effective on July 1, 2004, and applies to 8.26 contracts for wireless service entered into on or after May 1, 8.27 2004.

Before WOLLMAN, BYE, and COLLOTON, Circuit Judges.

COLLOTON, Circuit Judge.

Cellco Partnership and its co-appellants (collectively, “Cellco”) appeal from the district court’s partial denial of their request for a preliminary injunction against implementation and enforcement of Minnesota Statutes § 325F.695 (“Article 5”).¹ The district court ruled that Cellco’s claims – that Article 5 was preempted and that the statute was unconstitutionally vague – did not have a likelihood of success on the merits, and dissolved the temporary restraining order it had previously entered. We reverse and remand for entry of a permanent injunction.

¹The district court granted Cellco’s request for a preliminary injunction barring Attorney General Hatch and employees of the State from “taking any action to prevent wireless communications providers from passing through to customers federally assessed fees,” pursuant to its determination that Article 5 conflicted with 47 C.F.R. § 54.712(a), which authorized recovery of the fees. This portion of the district court’s order is not challenged on appeal.

On May 29, 2004, the Governor of Minnesota signed into law Article 5 of House File No. 2151, entitled “Wireless Consumer Protection.” Article 5 imposes several requirements on Cellco and other providers of wireless telecommunications services. The statute forbids the providers to implement changes in the terms and conditions of subscriber contracts that “could result” in increased rates or an extended contract term, unless they first obtain affirmative written or oral consent from the subscriber. Minn. Stat. § 325F.695, subd. 3; see id. § 325F.695, subd. 1(d). Article 5 also requires providers to deliver copies of the subscriber contracts to the subscribers, id., subd. 2, and, in the event a subscriber proposes a change to the contract, to disclose clearly any rate increase or contract extension that could result from the change. Id., subd. 4. The statute further requires providers to maintain recorded or electronic verification of the “disclosures” required by the law. Article 5 was scheduled to take effect on July 1, 2004, but on June 16, Cellco filed suit in the District of Minnesota seeking a declaration that, among other things, Article 5 was preempted by the Communications Act of 1934, 47 U.S.C. §§ 151-614, and invalid under several provisions of the United States Constitution. Cellco also sought an injunction against enforcement of Article 5.

The district court first granted a temporary restraining order against enforcement of Article 5, ruling that Cellco had “shown an initial likelihood of success on at least a portion of [its] preemption argument.” (Add. at 24). On consideration of Cellco’s request for a preliminary injunction, however, the court reached a different conclusion. The district court concluded that Cellco had not satisfied the standard for preliminary injunctions set forth in Dataphase Systems, Inc. v. C L Systems, Inc., 640 F.2d 109, 113 (8th Cir. 1981) (en banc), with respect to its claim that Article 5 is preempted, except to the extent that Article 5 applied to Cellco’s attempts to pass along the costs of contributions to the Universal Service Fund pursuant to 47 C.F.R. § 54.712(a). The district court also determined that Cellco did not meet the Dataphase test with respect to its claim that Article 5 is unconstitutionally vague. As a result, the district court dissolved its temporary restraining order effective September 15, 2004. We granted a stay pending appeal.

Although the district court analyzed the preemption question under the “likelihood of success on the merits” prong of the test for granting preliminary injunctions, see Dataphase, 640 F.2d at 113, Cellco now proposes without objection from the State that there are only legal issues unresolved on appeal. Accordingly, we consider Cellco’s motion as one for a permanent injunction. See Bank One v. Gutttau, 190 F.3d 844, 847 (8th Cir. 1999).

II.

Cellco urges that Article 5 is expressly preempted by a federal statute, § 332(c)(3)(A) of the Communications Act of 1934, which provides in relevant part:

[N]o State or local government shall have any authority to regulate the entry of or the rates charged by any commercial mobile service or any private mobile service, except that this paragraph shall not prohibit a State from regulating the other terms and conditions of commercial mobile services.

47 U.S.C. § 332(c)(3)(A). A “mobile service” is defined as a “radio communication service carried on between mobile stations or receivers and land stations, and by mobile stations communicating among themselves,” id. § 153(27); see id. § 332(d), and it is undisputed that Cellco is a commercial mobile service (“CMRS” or “provider”). The parties also agree that Article 5 does not regulate market entry, so whether any part of Article 5 is expressly preempted by § 332(c)(3)(A) turns on whether the statute regulates “rates charged” by providers. Our interpretation of the scope of an express preemption clause “must rest primarily on a fair understanding of congressional purpose,” Medtronic, Inc. v. Lohr, 518 U.S. 470, 485-86 (1996)

(internal quotation and emphasis omitted), and we presume that Congress does not intend preemption of historic police powers of the States “unless that was [its] clear and manifest purpose.” Id. at 485.

Section 332(c)(3) was added to the Communications Act in 1982, see An Act to amend the Communications Act of 1934, Pub. L. No. 97-259, § 120(a), 96 Stat. 1087, 1096 (1982), and its original preemption language provided that “[n]o State or local government shall have any authority to impose any rate or entry regulation upon any private land mobile service, except that nothing in this subsection may be construed to impair such jurisdiction with respect to common carrier stations in the mobile service.” 47 U.S.C. § 332(c)(3) (1992). An amendment in 1993 gave § 332(c)(3)(A) its current form, introducing the commercial/private mobile service distinction and providing for state regulation of “other terms and conditions.” See Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1993, Pub. L. No. 103-66, § 6002, 107 Stat. 312, 394 (1993).

The legislative history of the 1993 amendment speaks only briefly and indirectly about the meaning of “rate” regulation. A report from the House Budget Committee elaborated on the meaning of “other terms and conditions,” which the statute distinguishes from the regulation of “rates” and “market entry”:

By “terms and conditions,” the Committee intends to include such matters as customer billing information and practices and billing disputes and other consumer protection matters; facilities siting issues (e.g., zoning); transfers of control; the bundling of services and equipment; and the requirement that carriers make capacity available on a wholesale basis or such other matters as fall within a state’s lawful authority. This list is intended to be illustrative only and not meant to preclude other matters generally understood to fall under “terms and conditions.”
